CROPSY TELLS 'EM THEY LIE

FINES TWO POLICEMEN, TRIES SARCASM ON A THIRD.

Says a Sergeant Has Lied to Him Before and He Always Remembers a Lie.

Lieutenant charged with Impudence called "Ladlike" by Commissioner.

Commissioner Cropsy accused two more policemen of lying yesterday, fined them accordingly, and treated a third to a bit of sarcasm.

Sergeant Daniel T. Connor of the Bronx Park station was on trial for directing a policeman to make an arrest on the night of September 5.

Christopher Murray of 112 East 202d street, the man who was arrested and later reprimanded and discharged in court, said that he was standing on the stairs leading to an elevated railway station when the policeman ordered him to move on.

He refused, and the sergeant told the policeman to look him up. The sergeant said that Murray was blocking the stairs and was very nasty when he told him he would have to make room for others.

"I find you guilty," said Commissioner Cropsy to the sergeant, "because I know you too well. You came here a couple of months ago and lied to me. I never forget a liar. Later you wrote me a letter in which you again lied to me about the lie you had previously told. You are also the man who was here a short time ago for refusing to make an arrest. This is one of those unnecessary arrests which a man with stripes should never make. I will fine you three days."

Lieutenant Joseph T. Gorman of the West Thirty-seventh street station, in explaining to the Commissioner why he was absent from reserve on January 2, said that he had had an attack of neuralgia. His face and back pained him, he said.

The following day he had reported sick, and Police Surgeon Johnson, who attended him, was called as a witness. Dr. Johnson said that Lieutenant Gorman told him he had a severe pain in his face, but said nothing about pains in his back.

"I find you guilty," snapped the Commissioner to Lieutenant Gorman. "I thought you were lying about the pain in your back. I was going to let you off lightly, but now I shall fine you five days pay."

Lieutenant John Scanlon of the East Sixty-seventh street station was charged with being unwell to a witness and using improper language to him. On January 2 a chauffeur who had driven his machine into another was brought before Lieutenant Scanlon. Dr. Morris Davidoff was a witness of the collision and tried to tell the lieutenant that the chauffeur was drunk.

"Are you the complainant?" the physician asked the lieutenant. When he answered that he was a witness, Lieutenant Scanlon told him gruffly, he said, that he really was insulting. I think I must reserve decision."

"You've either got to do it or not do it. There ought not to be any half way measure, leaving the matter hanging in the air. The defendants are depending for their incomes on the trial yesterday afternoon in General Sessions on one of five indictments pending against him. The specific charge is the larceny of $1,400 from the bank. Three jurors were obtained yesterday."

William R. Montgomery, who was the president of the Hamilton Bank, which failed in 1907 and was merged into Robin's Northern Bank, was on trial yesterday afternoon in General Sessions on one of five indictments pending against him. The specific charge is the larceny of $1,400 from the bank. Three jurors were obtained yesterday.

The residence of John M. Kilgour at 80 Clinton avenue, Newark, with its contents, was damaged about $12,000 by fire last evening. Mrs. Kilgour, who was last evening carried into the home of Morgan Barker at 82 and when the flames spread to that house she had to be moved again. This time she was taken in an automobile to the home of James J. McGuire, two blocks away. Mr. Barker's loss was about $8,000. A detective blue started the fire.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Isn't this a significant fact: that on the twelfth day of our Closing Out Sale the crowds were as large and the volume of business as great as on the very first day!

That does not happen by chance. It's a business maxim that the shopping public taken en masse has an unerring "shopping sense"—never makes mistakes—never fails to appraise a selling event at its true value—never fails to render its verdict of success or failure with mathematical precision, exactly as the occasion deserves.

The public has accorded to Our Closing Out Sale a liberality of patronage that surpasses the records of any selling event in ten years or more of retail merchandising in New York City

MURRAY'S MUST GIVE UP BOY.

Court Says Their Income Depends on Exploitation of New Religion.

Vice-Chancellor Howell signed an order in Newark yesterday directing the return of six-year-old David Murray, foster son of Mrs. Sara Van Allen Murray, to St. Mary's Orphanage in Providence, R. I., whence he was taken about a year ago.

Upon the signing of the order, notice was given that an appeal would be made to the Court of Errors. This will act as a stay. In the meantime the boy will remain with the Murrays at their home, 93 Warrington road, East Orange.

The question was whether the income of the Murrays was sufficient to enable them to keep the boy.

The Court of Errors opens the second Tuesday in March. The decree signed by the Vice-Chancellor directs that the foster son be returned to the orphanage on January 28. In announcing his decision the Vice-Chancellor said to counsel for the Murrays:

"You've either got to do it or not do it. There ought not to be any half way measure, leaving the matter hanging in the air. The defendants are depending for their incomes on the trial yesterday afternoon in General Sessions on one of five indictments pending against him. The specific charge is the larceny of $1,400 from the bank. Three jurors were obtained yesterday."

CORNWALLIS'S GUNS.

Two We Acquired by His Surrender to Be Mounted Here.

Park Commissioner Stover was informed yesterday that the Government was sending to him two guns that came into its possession when Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown. The guns have been stored away in the Waterfront Arsenal. When they arrive here they will be put on exhibition on the grounds of the old Jumel mansion, where Washington once had his headquarters.

They are muzzle loading bronze guns, smooth bore, of 3 inch calibre. This inscription is upon each piece: "Surrendered by the capitulation of Yorktown, October 18, 1781. I. & P. Verbruggen fecerunt 1776." The original wooden carriages fell to pieces and have not been replaced. Commissioner Stover decided to have new wooden carriages made to resemble the original ones.

MARRIES ON WAY TO SING SING.

Civil Ceremony Already Bound Rotolo and Miss Codney.
